Enable Group Policy Editor (gpedit.msc) on Windows 10 Home Edition (2020)

Learn how to easily enable group policy editor or gpedit.msc on your Windows 10 Home Edition laptop, desktop, tablet by using a simple method.

Located below where you could download the tool we'll be needing to install automatically gpedit.msc or Group Policy Editor app on Windows.

You can follow along the video-guide tutorial embedded on this article or proceed directly to simply running the bat file as administrator.

Video Tutorial

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Nz731Y52IgQVideo can't be loaded because JavaScript is disabled: Enable Group Policy Editor (gpedit.msc) on Windows 10 Home Edition | 2020 (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Nz731Y52IgQ)

Download Gpedit-enabler.bat (Google Drive Link)

Download Gpedit-enabler.bat (Google Drive Link)

How to use gpedit-enabler.bat?

Simply download the batch file from the link above, and run it as administrator. Make sure you are connected on the internet.

Using the gpedit enabler bat file, it will run windows app packages commands to install gpedit or Group Policy Editor app on your Windows 10 Home.

Leave a comment down below if this worked for you or if you need help feel free to join and create a thread on Windows Forum for free!